Building Digital Capability for Allied Health

PHN EDUCATION SESSION

Please join this session from the Primary Health Network, in partnership with Semantic Consulting focused on leading digital change in healthcare. Tim Blake, Managing Director of Semantic Consulting, will spend time unpacking the results of the recent digital health maturity assessment in allied health or the Health-e Together Digital Care Survey.

Tim will talk about how we can build capability in allied health to reduce variation in care, and develop the digitally-enabled models of care that can help to put the patient at the centre of care. There will be opportunities to ask questions following the presentation and provide feedback on the process. We will also be finding out the winner of $1,000 worth of Brennan IT Vouchers.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

1. Identify the key high-level insights the Health-e Together Digital Care Survey provided the PHN
2. Understand the levels of digital maturity and how that may relate to your practice.
3. Improve your understanding of how to build digital capacity.

SPEAKER: Tim Blake - MD of Semantic Consulting

Tim is passionate about building and implementing digitally-enabled models of care, enabling engaged patients, measuring digital health maturity, and supporting clinicians to design and meaningfully use digital health solutions. He has formerly held senior roles in digital health in Tasmania and NSW. He has been a Strategic Advisor at Australia's National eHealth Transition Authority (NEHTA) and the Commonwealth Department of Health and Aged Care. Tim also co-authored the previous National Digital Health Strategy for the Australian Digital Health Agency.
