Youth Mental Health and its impact on General Practice

PHN/CCLHD EDUCATION SESSION

Youth Mental Health issues are becoming an increasingly common presentation in children and young people presenting to primary care providers and hospitals. It's even more challenging if the child has developmental delay, complex family dynamics and associated medical /genetic co morbidities. This event will examine Youth Mental Health and its impact on General Practice.

It is really crucial to have insight into these challenging presentations and awareness regarding providing Medications and the services and supports in the community to enable effective and timely management. You are invited to join our online presentation focusing on referral pathways, assessment outcomes, identifying risks and accessing available services.

Learning outcomes:

- Identifying risks and accessing services
- Referral pathways and assessment outcomes
- Information about available resources and health pathways
