

Primary Care Pathways to Safety: The Readiness Program

A PHN LED DOMESTIC & FAMILY
VIOLENCE INITIATIVE

ABOUT THE INITIATIVE

Hunter New England Central Coast Primary Health Network alongside The University of Melbourne, presents an important opportunity for General Practice to make an impact that can save lives.

The Readiness Program will support your practice to Recognise, Respond, Refer and Record patients experiencing Domestic and Family Violence.

Join our fully supported Quality Improvement (QI) activity, by completing the attached Expression of Interest form and help deliver coordinated support for people experiencing Domestic and Family Violence.

Participating General Practice's will receive accredited training and on-going whole of practice support by a GP and Domestic and Family Violence Specialist, among other benefits, such as:

- 40 CPD Accredited Activities Points
- $3000 (ex GST) incentive payment*
- Online Communities of Practice
- In-practice or online whole of practice training
- Quality Improvement activities and support
- Access to a Domestic Family Violence Specialist
- Referral pathways to local support services.
