

A white decorative wavy line on the left side of the title.

Primary Care Pathways to Safety: The Readiness Program

A PHN LED DOMESTIC & FAMILY VIOLENCE INITIATIVE

Hunter New England Central Coast Primary Health Network alongside the Safer Families Centre (The University of Melbourne) and Armidale Women's Shelter presents an excellent opportunity for General Practice to make an impact that can save lives.

Join our fully supported Quality Improvement (QI) activity, by completing the attached Expression of Interest form and help deliver coordinated support for people experiencing Domestic and Family Violence.

Participating General Practice's will receive accredited in-practice education and support from Professor Kelsey Hegarty's team at the Safer Families Centre (based at University of Melbourne), and a local dedicated Domestic and Family Violence Specialist, among other benefits, such as:

- 40 CPD Accredited Activities Points
- $3000 (ex GST) incentive payment*
- Online Communities of Practice
- In-practice education
- Quality Improvement activities and support
- Access to a Domestic Violence Specialist
- Connection to local family violence support services.

*Specific clinical software is required and data sharing agreements will apply. Please ask your local PCIO or Domestic Family Violence Local Link for more information.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Shannon Richardson 0437 864 363 • srichardson@thepnhn.com.au