

Menopause Education Webinar for Clinicians

A case-by-case guide to managing menopause presentations, including complex cases and special considerations.

MenoECHO Launch— Commencing September 25th 2023, 6pm - 7pm continued bimonthly

Overview

The online education sessions known as MenoECHO will include a short didactic presentation followed by discussion of 2 case studies. Sessions will cover topics with increasing complexity and will be guided by the feedback from attendees.

Topics Covered

- Menopause Hormonal Treatments (MHT)
- Evidence based non-hormonal treatments
- Treatment options for menopause vs perimenopause
- Treatment of mood disorders associated with menopause
- Menopause in difficult clinical cases (eg cardiovascular disease, breast cancer)

Audience

This free online event is aimed primarily at GPs, endocrinologists, gynecologists, nurses and allied health professionals. CPD will be available for the sessions. We hope to soon have RACGP and ACRRM accreditation

Expert Panel Members:

Prof Rod Baber Clinical Professor of Obstetrics and Gynaecology, Royal North Shore Hospital.

Dr Amanda Beech- Endocrinologist, Royal Hospital for Women

A Prof John Eden- Reproductive Endocrinologist, Royal Hospital for Women

Dr Therese Foran Sexual Health Physician, Royal Hospital for Women

Dr Elina Saфро, General Practitioner, Medical Education and Integrated Clinical Services, Family Planning NSW, Royal Hospital for Women

Registration via link or if unable to access form email: ausmenoecho@gmail.com

Contact -

Kate Luckie MenoECHO coordinator
Ph 0438 885590 k.luckie@unsw.edu.au

